

Would you like to be a part of Helen Sanderson Associates Australia?

Could this be you?

What people appreciate about you:

- Passionate about social change
- A confident, creative & inspiring presenter & facilitator
- An excellent networker, well connected within your area of expertise
- Driven to learn & improve your own practice
- Self motivated and well organised
- A generous and receptive team member
- Confident and enthusiastic about social media
- Innovative

What is important to you:

- Leading social change
- Variety and challenge in your work
- Telling stories about changes you have been involved in through blogging, presentations and social media
- An autonomous approach to your work
- Designing new and innovative ways to support personalisation in community service organisations
- An open and transparent approach to work with your colleagues and customers

How we will support you

- Training and support in developing your knowledge and skills in person-centred practices
Matching you with a buddy for problem solving and brainstorming
- You will have flexibility in your work arrangements – you may need to work from home one week, and travel throughout regional Australia another. You will be paid for travel time and expenses
- You will join our evolving self-managing team where collective decision-making, support and accountability to one another are paramount
- You will be connected to the international team via the online chat app Slack, and we will have fortnightly Australian meetings via Zoom video-conferencing as well as face-to-face meetings twice per year
- HSA Australia will provide Work Cover, professional indemnity & public liability insurance, and superannuation payments; however you will need to be set up with your own ABN and manage your own taxes
